

KEPEL

Kepel, originated in Indonesia, belongs to the family Annonaceae, carries the botanical name Stelechocarpus burahol and is under a threat of extinction. Because of the innate quality of fruits to ward off body odour naturally, Kepel has become the favourite fruit of the royal family of Java. It also can take away bad breath, stench of sweat and urine because of some chemicals present in it. Fruits are rather big in size and the fleshy portion is light yellow in colour.
